by 24 students from the School of Decoration and the School of Cinema, Photography, and Audiovisual Arts, under the supervision of professors from ABA Roma.

The selected artworks, addressing eco-hydrological and socio-environmental challenges stemming from the current climate crisis, are the result of a science-art collaboration promoted by NexusArt. The co-creation of these works by ABA Roma students involved collaboration between professors and young researchers from environmental, social, and humanistic sciences, and engineering departments, from universities and research centers partnering in the transdisciplinary NEXUS-NESS project.

More information about NexusArt's communication, environmental awareness, and citizen engagement initiatives is available on the website: <https://prima-nexus-ness.org/nexusart/>.

The A punt per començar exhibition is hosted at the prestigious UNESCO site, Recinte Modernista de Sant Pau in Barcelona, during the international event Manifesta 15. The vernissage will take place on October 23, 2024, and the exhibition will remain open until November 2, 2024.

On October 22, 2024, at 5:00 PM, there will be a pre-vernissage event for the coordinators and participants of the projects funded by the PRIMA Euro-Mediterranean research and innovation program, attending the annual meeting "PRIMA Project Day" in Barcelona. On October 23, 2024, during the vernissage, a special edition of the St Pau Dialogue will take place titled: "Science and art working together for health and sustainability / Ciència i art per a la salut i la sostenibilitat", featuring a dialogue between sustainability scientists, artists, and health professionals to present the NexusArt Exhibition.
